City crew votes to accept wage offer

PLEASANTON - By a nearly unanimous vote, the Pleasanton City Employees Association accepted the city council's revised salary offer late Monday afternoon.

The details of that two-year settlement with the 110-member PCEA will not be announced until 5 p.m. today when the council is expected to officially accept the contract.

It is believed the contract allows a 9 percent wage increase this year, plus some increased payments to the medical plan and the beginnings of a dental plan and an 8 percent hike next year.

Following the 30-minute closed session Monday, PCEA President Darryl Alexander said the "revised offer" was a "good compromise" and was "the best the city can do."

Thp wage settlement comes a week after the PCEA contract for the 1974-75 fiscal year expired.

In an unusual móve last Monday, however, the council extended the negotiation deadline until today in the hopes an amicable agreement could be reached. The package approved by the PCEA membership will bp retroactive to July 1, as authorized by the council.

A large contingent of PCEA members attended last Monday's council meeting to express their dissatisfaction with the city's previous offer, which was for an 8 percent increase this year and a hike next year based on a sliding cost-of-living scale.

The pmploypps had originally asked for a 16 percent one-year package, including a 12 percent salary increase. They later modified that request to a 12 percent package but, even with that lower figure, the talks reached an impasse.

Following last Monday's action by the council, the city's negotiator Keith Fleming, met with the PCEA leadership late last week and it was during that session that the compromise was apparently worked out.

The council will meet at 5 p.m. today in the Pleasanton Justice Court tothe contract.

Negotiations are continuing with the Pleasanton Firefighters, the city's only union employee group. Their contract expires at the end of this month.

On your mark for 'Pleasanton Day'

Winery's 'Villa' seeks city approval

PLEASANTON - Villa Armando, Pleasanton's only winery, will seek permission from the planning commission Wednesday night to operate a continental restaurant in a converted St. John Street home.

The house, at 475 St. John, is zoned to allow a restaurant but Villa Armando needs a conditional use permit because the restaurant's proposed parking area would be at the winery itself, 115 feet west of the restaurant.

The restaurant, which should be open for business by mid-September, would be called "The Villa." Villa Armando is proposing to convert the rear of the property into a museum for antique wine-making artifacts, a picnic area and a small vineyard.

Villa Armando proposes installing 15 parking places at the winery to serve a maximum of 44 people at the restaurant.

The commission will also consider Ark Schools' application to keep two ducks, two chickens and four rabbits at its property at 883 Rose Ave.

Dan Huffman is seeking permission from the planning board to operate an ammunition reloading facility which would involve the storage of more than 100 pounds of explosives at 7067-A Commerce Circle.

The commission will also consider a tentative tract map for a nine-acre subdivision on Woodthrush Road, although the Environmental Impact Report for that tract is not yet complete.

Other items on the agenda include a review of the Pleasanton Redevelopment Plan, review of the Foothill Reservoir site, and review of two home occupations.

The Design Review Board will consider architectural plans for a shop and building, proposed by Kie-Con, Inc., at 3200 Busch Rd., and Pettibone Signs' application for design approval of a sign for the Bibere Coffee Shop at 4301 Valley Ave.

The planning commission meets at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Pleasanton Justice Court, 30 West Angela St., preceded by the Design Review Board at 7:30 p.m. and the Board of Adjustments at 7:15 p.m.

VCSD expansion set for growth

DUBLIN - The Valley Community Services District is estimating it will require an additional 1.2 million gallons a day of sewage capacity to completely service its area.

That estimate was compiled as a response to a request by the Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency, which plans to construct a disposal facility for all of the valley's treated effluent.

In order to determine the size for that facility, which will most likely be a piepeline that hooks up with the East Bay Dischargers' Authority pipe, LAVWMA Project Director Dan Murphy has asked the agency's three member agencies to estimate their ultimate needs.

In a Letter to Murphy, VCSD President Lila Euler stated, for planning purposes, VCSD would require a total plant capacity of 5.08 mgd for its service area north of Interstate 580.

At present, total committed capacity for the service area is 3.86 mgd, Euler added.

The estimates for VCSD, Pleasanton and Livermore will be discussed at a LAVWMA meting scheduled for Wednesday, July 16.

School districts will keep use of Camp Parks buildings

PLEASANTON- The Amador-Pleasanton School District, which has utilized warehouse facilities at Camp Parks for many years, will retain the space but at a much higher rent per month from now on.

The district was advised last year that the real estate division of the General Services Administration was terminating nominal $1-a-year contracts starting in 1975-76.

For the past six months, school district leaders have been weighing the advantages of other warehouse sites as opposed the Parks facility.

Director of Business Services Doug Rose has told The Times that it has now been decided to stay at Parks. The district is in the process of completing negotiations for an equitable rental price.

The district uses 61,000 square feet at Parks and has looked at alternatives in the 10 to 12-cents per sq. ft. per month range. The cost at Parks, however, would be closer to 5 cents per sq. ft. per month.

The district stores all of its foodstuffs at Parks along with other utility items.

Restaurant are sold Wagon Wheel, DiLaura's

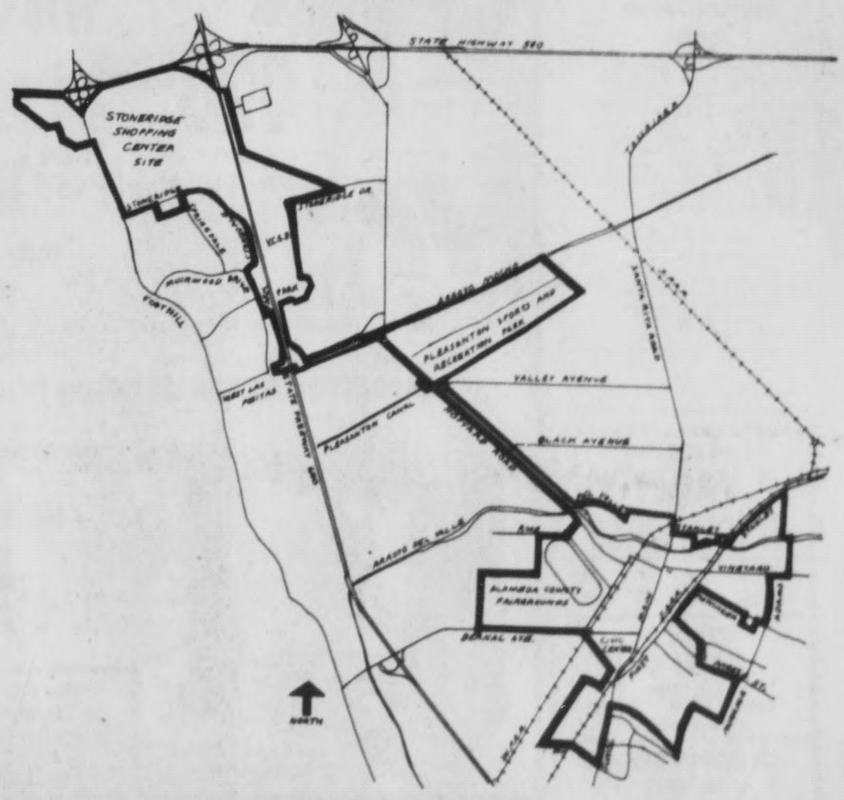
Two well known Pleasanton businesses are changing hands, according to bulk transfer notices being published this week.

Sale of the Wagon Wheel bar and restaurant has been announced by William F. Kirkland and Robert A. Steffenauer. The buyers will be John and Gay Mullins of 705 Bonita Ave., Pleasanton.

Frank A. Penna of 7388 Tulipwood Circle in Pleasanton has already taken occupancy of DiLaura's Restaurant at 624 Main St. The DiLaura family has been identified with that dining spot for over 25 years.

Steffenauer and Kirkland purchased the Wagon Wheel in November of 1957. Some two years ago they sold the adjoining parcel which was then developed into a two-story office building.

The Mullins are former owners of a liquor store in the 400 block of Main Street.



'The Impossible Success Story' — Part II

VCSD has kept pace with Dublin's growth

Rapid growth is seldom accomplished without massive dislocations in public services, but Dublin's sudden acceleration in size produced few such problems thanks to the Valley Community Services District.

The district was formed out of the defunct Parks Service District in October of 1960 and was authorized to handle water, sewers, fire protection, recreation and parks, garbage collection, library services, street lighting and street repair on a maximum tax rate of $1 per $100 of assessed valuation.

While some of those services are still supplied by Alameda County, VCSD has managed to supply the citizens of the rapidly growing community of Dublin with most of these nececssary duties with only a single tax rate increase since 1961. And that increase came just last month to improve the parks and recreation program within the district.

Originally the Parks Service District comprised some 2,175 acres in the Dubiin area but through annexations VCSD now serves over 7,000 acres and approximately 28,000 citizens. The population in 1960 was 250.

Rhoda Owen, the VCSD Clerk, arrived in Dublin in 1960 and has seen the area change from a definitely rural, almost isolated plot of land to a highly residential and almost urbanized area.

When she joined VCSD, there were three directors, a general manager, herself and onepart-time employe. Now there are five directors and 63 employes.

Only one bond issuehas ever been necessaryfor VCSD to keep running and that measure was passed in 1970 for parks and recreation. With that, the district constructed two heavily-utilized and popular swimming pools and purchased 27 acres of parks that will be developed over the next five years.

When Fire Chief Phil Phillips arrived in 1961, "there wasn't even a fire station" he said. In fact, there wasn't even any water — it had to be trucked in.

His original staff was himself, plus a volunteer fire program, and two engines — one a 1939 model and one a fairly new one. Now, the fire department has zoomed to 22 employes, 16 volunteers, two fire stations, four engines, a squad truck, a pickup truck and a car.

VCSD now averages more fires in a month that it did during a whole year in the early 1960's. In 1961, for example, the fire crew responded to 75 calls; in 1974, there were 717 calls and 435 fires.

"We've had really good luck" said Phillips in reference to the spotless fatality record of the district.

The worst fire that Phillips can recall was on Mother's Day in the early years of VCSD. The Dublin Corral burned to the ground, spurring annexation of that land to VCSD; apparently the residents decided that fire protection close at hand might be a good idea.

The first recreation program in the district began in 1961 but was set back by a stinging defeat of a tax rate increase at the polls.

Even so, VCSD managed to provide a diversified recreation program, especially after the bond issue in 1970 allowed the construction of Shannon Community Center.

Although water quality has always been the brunt of attacks throughout VCSD, recent construction of a crossvalley pipeline to hook up one 7 water treatment plants should guarantee VCSD residents high quality water when the final plant comes on line late this summer.

Sewers seem to have been in the news in the valley forever, and since VCSD's sewage treatment plant has been designated a regional facility, much controversy has swirled around the modern plant.

The plant itself was named Plant of the Year in 1974 and could conceivably expand to service 32 million gallons a day of sewage if demand and environmental concerns allowed it.

Presently, however, the plant treats less than 4 mgd, although expansion to at least 5 mgd is almost a certainty.

VCSD has had to handle all the problems of the 1960's and 1970's without the backlog of experience that older, more established governmental agencies can draw on. And yet, in spite of growth that would have taxed the best of systems, the district has managed to keep up uninterrupted, high quality services available to the citizens of Dublin and San Ramon for nearly 15 years.

All of the property owners within the project area and representatives of civic organizations have been invited to Wednesday's public hearing, which is also open to the public.

Supervisors/Housing Authority

Renter funding proposal

Alameda County Bureau

The Alameda County Board of Supervisors will assume its alter ego of the Alameda County Housing Authority tomorrow morning in the Board Chambers of the County Administration Building in Oakland.

The Housing Authority meeting will consider the Section 8 funding from the government, which will allow a semi-food stamp program for renters to be set up.

The program would allow a low-income renter to choose an apartment or home to rent and then return to the Housing Authority. If it approved, then the renter would get credits on his rent in amounts related to his income.

Also, the Housing Authority budget for the coming year will be analyzed by the supervisors.

The board, in its own identity, will hear two matters of direct impact on the valley at 9 a.m.

The first concerns a countywide project to slurry seal road surfaces in the unincorporated area, while the second deals with the opening of bids for the Detjens-Kalthoff Untreated Water Turnout Facility south of Livermore.

The facility, which will supply untreated water from the South Bay Aqueduct to Walter Detjens and Steve Kalthoff for agricultural purposes, will be paid for by the two vintners.

Meat snatch suspects protest tot's 'finger'

PLEASANTON — A routine arrest for alleged shoplifting turned into a bizarre screaming match downtown Friday evening when two suspects loudly protested police use of a two-year-old child to identify their car.

Ruben C. Moran, 24, of Hayward, and Joann C. Chavez, 21, Union City, were arrested by Alameda County Sheriff's Deputies after Pleasanton Foods store owner Richard Sood chased Moran nearly a block following the couple's alleged attempt to steal some $30 in steaks and roasts from the market.

The couple told police they had hitch-hiked into Pleasanton, but police believed their car was parked in the market's lot.

When the two refused to identify the suspect auto, police turned to a two-year-old child with the couple and tried to get him to point out the car.

Chavez began screaming, police claim, and tried to force her way out of the patrol car while Moran, too, began to yell and flay away at the car, screaming for witnesses to watch the police and child.

Sood became suspicious of the couple when they walked into his market and headed directly for the meat department.

A few minutes later Sood says Chavez left the store with her bag bulging while Moran stuffed steaks in his pants.

The woman returned to the store and when the two saw Sood watching them, tried to leave.

Sood confronted them near the door where Moran denied taking any food. When Sood pulled the steak from Moran's coat, the Haywardite gave the child to Chavez and ran down the street.

The couple denied driving into town and the fracas over the child began.

Police later discovered several steaks and roasts in a bag in the car, along with a plastic tube with a needle at the end that police "believe to be used by Chavez for the injection of narcotics."

The woman complained to police of a sore arm and was taken to Valley Memorial Hospital where it was diagnosed as a sprain.

Moran was booked at Santa Rita jail for burglary, while Chavez was booked for burglary, resisting arrest and possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

Solar heating, cooling catalog being prepared

A catalog of solar heating and cooling equipment is being prepared by the Energy Research and Development Agency (ERDA) in cooperation with the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

To initiate the project a government Request For Information (RFI) was issued the first of this month. The RFI will be based on information from manufacturers throughout the nation.

The catalog — which will contain information on the current availability of solar equipment — will be distributed to the solar energy industry and the general public.

The goals for the catalog are to encourage manufacturers and builders to combine their equipment into complete systems, to assist in the marketing of solar heating and cooling equipment and to establish an initial basis for information exchange within the solar energy industry.

For copies of the RFI, write to RFI, Solar Energy Division, ERDA, Washington, DC, 20545.

Livermore Airport eyes dangerous load

LIVERMORE - Fire Chief Jack Baird says it can't be done the way the airport is now but Public Works Director Dan Lee says he might be able to find a way.

Acting accordingly, the airport advisory committee voted to table its answer to a request by Mission Airlines to make hazardous materials deliveries to the municipal airport.

Under Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) regulations, different types of explosives require varying distances from the craft carrying the materials and airport boundaries, inhabited structures, active parking areas, taxiways, runways, etc., according to Baird.

Class A explosives (those that react to detonation, such as nitroglycerin) up to 50 pounds require 1,250 feet of separation; 51 to 2,000 pounds, 1,800 feet.

Class B (those with extreme flammability) and Class C (manufactured devices containing either Class A or B materials) explosives require 200 feet of separation for up to 150 pounds and 290 feet of separation for 151 to 2,000 pounds of explosives.

Baird believes Mission Airlines carries Class C explosives. The airport as it now exists cannot meet the separation requirements for any of the explosives, the fire chief noted.

According to Lee, though, it might be possible to create an area that would meet the requirements. He wants to look at roping off an area where there usually are not many aircraft anyway.

The fire department softened its stand on the airline's operations in one respect: formerly it was insisting that 30 days notice be given prior to each delivery.

Thirty days notice may be unrealistic, Baird conceded, and suggested 72 hours as a more reasonable time figure.

Notification is necessary because other agencies are involved, he explained.

The committee tabled approval or denial of Mission's request until its meeting next month. This is the second time the request has been delayed.

In considering the matter last month, committee members decided they wanted more information on the airlines and its operations into other airports.

According to Lee, the City of Concord has granted the airline permission to land there.

Mission has no client in mind here but is requesting delivery approval for future reference.

Utah air crash claims Pleasanton family of three

SALT LAKE CITY - A Pleasanton family of three and a friend accompanying them on a trip to Denver died in a fiery private plane crash here Friday.

Identification of the four was confirmed Sunday.

Listed as dead are the pilot, Ron Obechina, 32, his wife, Donna, 29, their seven-year-old daughter, Lisa, of 1193 Vintner Way, and a family friend, Mary Young Todorovich, 52.

The pilot filed a flight plan from Livermore to Elko, Nev., en rounte to Denver, but stopped instead in Reno before proceeding to Salt Lake City.

The fully loaded and refueled American Yankee Tiger plane crashed shortly after takeoff from Salt Lake City airport, bursting into flames on impact.

Federal Aviation Administrators were hard pressed to identify the victims Saturday when their only clue was an engine serial number.

Loaded with fuel, luggage and four passengers, officials fear the plane had trouble gaining altitude from the bowl-like airport.

It is not yet known whether the four died in the crash or in the fiery explosion. The bodies were burned beyond recognition and plane parts scattered hundreds of feet.

Zone 7 to ask annual rate change

LIVERMORE — A request to adjust water rate schedules annually rather than every five years has been made to the city by Zone 7 of the Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District.

City council members will consider an amendment to the Zone 7 treated water supply contract that would allow annual adjustments at their meeting Tuesday night.

According to a draft of the amendment, Zone 7 would establish a new rate at least 60 days prior to Jan. 1 of the calendar year for which the rate schedule is to be effective.

Annual adjustments would commence with the 1976 calendar year.

The principle of an annual adjustment is consistent with the city's policies and appears satisfactory, Public Works Director Dan Lee noted in a memo on the matter.

He is recommending that the council direct the staff to prepare an amendment to the city's agreement with Zone 7.

Community health class

Valley residents interested in community mental health are invited to become volunteer advocates for the Hayward-Oakland area.

An intensive six-week training course is about to begin in mid-July to enable qualified adults to help. Volunteers will assist clients with income, housing, medical and psychiatric care, jobs and support in meeting general social needs.

The course will concentrate on teaching the skills enabling one to deal in a paraprofessional capacity with the mentally disturbed.

The program is under the auspices of the Mental Health Association.

Prospective volunteers may obtain more information by calling 658-9218 in Oakland or 538-1700.

Fair ribbons are all in the family for Hendersons

By REINA WHITNEY

Fairtime hardly generates more excitement or frenzied activity anywhere than it does in one Dublin household, that of the Henderson family of Amarillo Court.

Ann Henderson, a talented member of the Valley Artists Association, begins early getting her exhibits and those of her children ready for fairtime. She knew it would have to be careful planning this year because her ninth child is expected at the end of July.

In addition to having her oil painting entitled "Cloister, Capistrano" accepted in the fine arts section of the Fair, Ann has won awards this year for another medium of artistic expression.

She entered four ceramic pieces and came away with three awards — two blue ribbons and a third place award.

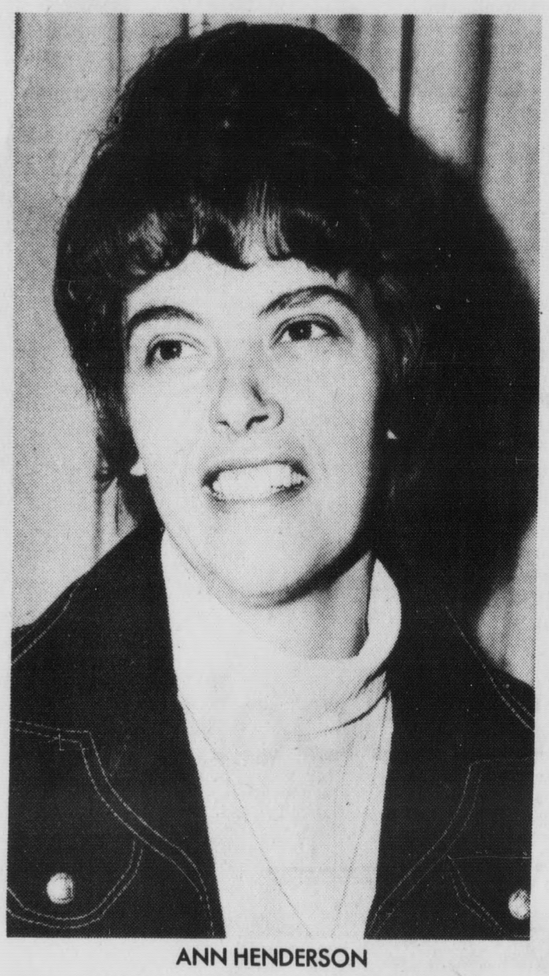
All of her children are encouraged to try their hand at Fair competition. Five-year-old Aileen won a third place award for her own rural scene painting in watercolor.

Preparing entries for the baking competition sets off a flurry of action in the Henderson kitchen that would rival a busy restaurant. Mother and son, Jack, 13, both won first place awards for crescent rolls in the Fair's first week.

Patrick. 8, earned a second place award for orange bread, while Ann won two more awards for cakes — a second for orange Norwegian cake and a third for carrot cake.

Although her daughter, Kelly, 12, didn't win a prize for her chocolate cookies in the first week, she captured a blue ribbon for crescent rolls in the second week of bakery competition.

Dublin residents are familiar with the name of Ann Henderson. She is a junior member of the Murray school board. Her attorney husband, Jay Henderson, held that post for eight years before Ann ran tn fill his vacancy.



ANN HENDERSON

All of Ann's children are encouraged to enter Fair competition

During her off-season "spare" time, Ann co-manages the CYO track teams, which this year eleven members of her St. Raymond's Church team go to the Northern California track finals. Five of her own children — Jack, Kelly, Pat, Brian and Molly qualified for the Junior Olympics to be held at Menlo Park July 10-13.

At the moment you may find Ann most any morning at the Shannon Community Center in Dublin teaching pottery classes to adults as well as children.

Ann Henderson is one of those unique, spirit-filled individuals for which any community is richer for her living there.

Pat and Jack Henderson (top photo) approve mouth-watering crescent rolls baked in a practice round by their sister, Kelly, while young Erin is in too much of a hurry to wait for her snack to cool. Crescent rolls (above) baked by Ann Henderson and Jack sport blue ribbons in the Fair's home arts section. Hand-molded ceramic pinch vase (left) by Ann also captured a first place award.

Beware the poison in your backyard

Oleanders are in bloom all over the Valley, softening dull corners of the yard with their flowers of yellow, white, pink or red.

The big bushes are so graceful, nobody would ever think their leaves are deadly.

Oleander are only one of a host of plants commonly found in the Valley which can cause sickness or death to anyone absentmindedly chewing on a stem or experimenting with a few leaves in a salad.

They are especially toxic to small children because it takes so much less poison to affect a 40-pound tot than a 140-lb. adult.

the following list of poisonous plants has been supplied by Pleasanton pediatricians David Li and Roy Abbanat based on information from the Fellows of the American Academy of Pediatrics:

Hyacinth, narcissus, daffodil: Bulbs may be fatal, cause nausea, vomiting, diarrhea.

Dieffenbachia, elephant ear: All parts can cause intense burning and irritation of the mouth and tongue. Death can occur if base of tongue swells enough to block air passage to throat.

Oleander: Leaves, branches are extremely poisonous, affecting heart and producing severe digestive upset.

Poinsettia: One leaf can kill child.

Mistletoe: Both children and adults have died from eating the berries.

In your garden, some dangerous plants are:

Larkspure: Young plant, seeds may be fatal, cause digestive upset, nervous excitement.

Monkshood: Fleshy roots cause digestive upset and nervous excitement.

Autumn crocus, star - of - Bethlehem: bulbs cause vomiting and nervous excitement.

Lily - of - the - valley: Eating leaves and flowers produces irregular heartbeat and pulse, usually accompanied by digestive upset and mental confusion.

Iris: Underground stems cause severe, but not usually serious digestive upset.

Foxlglove: Leaves are one of the sources of the drug digitalis, which is used as a heart stimulant. In large amounts, leaves may be fatal.

Bleeding Heart: Also called Dutchman's Breeches — Eating foliage and roots has proven fatal to cattle.

Then there's rhubarb, whose stems make such good pie. Don't try to eat the leaves: Large quantities can cause convulsions, coma and death.

Among your ornamental plants, watch out for:

Daphne: A few berries can kill a child.

Wisteria: Seeds and pods can cause an upset stomach.

Golden chain: The bean-like capsules may be fatal, cause excitement, staggering, convulsions and coma.

Laurels, rhododendron and azaleas: Eating any part can be fatal. Symptoms are nausea and vomiting, difficult breathing, prostration and coma.

Jessamine: Berries cause upset stomach and nervous symptoms. Fatal.

Lantana camara — red sage: Green berries are fatal, affecting lungs, kidneys, heart and nervous system.

Yew: Death is usually sudden without warning symptoms; berries are toxic and foliage more so.

Trees in your neighborhood that should be treated with respect.

Cherry: Twigs and foliage contain a compound that releases cyanide when eaten. Gasping, excitement and prostration can appear within minutes.

Oaks: Children should not be allowed to chew on acorns. Poison affects kidneys gradually; foliage is also bad.

Elderberry: Children have been poisoned by using pieces of the pithy stems for blowguns. Shoots, leaves and bark cause digestive upset.

Black locust: Children have suffered nausea, weakness and depression after chewing bark and seeds.

Besides mushrooms, which are commonly known to be a risky plant to pick, there are other wild plants that can kill. For example:

Water hemlock: All parts cause violent, painful convulsions and sometimes death.

astrograph

by Bernice Bede Osol

For Tuesday, July 8, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't conclude an important matter in haste or anger today. Allow yourself ample time to study all the available alternatives.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're a bit too flexible in your thinking today. You're likely to provoke someone who's equally firm about his idea.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Keep a close rein on your budget the next few days. Expenses you didn't allow for are apt to pop up. You could be caught short.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you expect others to cooperate today, be tactful in framing requests. A demanding attitude will produce opposition, not aid.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't blame others for your shortcomings today. Chances are if you're saddled with a problem, it's one of your own making.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) To avert hard feelings later, spell out now what's expected of everyone in any involvement you're putting together with friends.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You hope to achieve something important in the next few days, but it won't be a snap. Don't let a few obstacles dishearten you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) To avoid unnecessary frustrations today, be prepared to make prompt changes in your plans if they don't work as well as you'd hoped.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't do business today with one with whom you've had a bad experience. You may be taken again if you're not careful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be on guard in legal and partnership matters today. Get expert advice before committing yourself to agreements or contacts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Nothing will be gained by shoving aside immediate responsibilities. Set a schedule early in the day. Stick to it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Shun temptation today and tomorrow, if there's a choice between spending for immediate pleasure or paying off an old obligation.

Your Birthday

July 8, 1975

You will make several important changes this year to take you along paths you've never trod before. They can be very advantageous if carefully thought through.

There is one free rebid that does have a special meaning. That is the free rebid in notrump. It must show that you can stop the suit that your opponent has been kind or unkind enough to bid.

Thus, North has a very normal, one-notrump rebid after South's one-heart response. When West bids a spade, North just can't bid one notrump (he can't stop spades.)

He might try two diamonds, but his hand is a complete minimum. The diamond suit is nothing to sing paeans of joy about.

When the spade bid comes around to South he can bid notrump and jumps to two with his 12 high-card points.

North raises to game. West opens his fourth best spade and South rattles off his nine tricks and wins the rubber.

Since might-have-beens are worth discussing we must point out that if West had passed, North would have bid one notrump. South would have raised to three and East would have been on lead.

East might well have led the jack of spades, rather than his fourth best club and the hand would have collapsed.

Ask the Jacobys

From time to time we are asked if honors count when held by a defender. The answer is that they do. It usually amounts to extra loss since few contracts are ever fulfilled when a defender holds a hundred honors against declarer.

Oh, yes! Honors also count when dummy holds them.

Livermore in consolation

When it looked as if Pleasanton and Livermore might battle each other to kingdom come once again, Livermore broke loose for five runs in the fifth inning en route to a 6-0 victory in yesterday afternoon's district five Babe Ruth all-star competition.

Tomorrow afternoon, Livermore will play host to Castro Valley in a 2 p.m. consolation encounter at Granada High. At 5:30 p.m. Oakland National will play Hayward National for the championship.

Pleasanton, now scoreless through 11 innings in all-star competition, was shut out on an excellent two-hit pitching performance by Greg Frates.

Only in the first and third innings did Pleasanton manage to touch Frates for a base hit. From the third on, Greg retired 13 batsmen in a row, and was aided by a super defense.

Contributing to Livermore's offensive assault were Charlie Beckover, Kevin Gosney, and Mark Davis. Defensively, John Costello, along with Davis and Beckover, were impeccable.

Vince Costello, who started for host Pleasanton, wasn't too bad himself, pitching perfect ball over the first three innings. He lost his bid in the fourth, when Ken Ebert singled.

A controversial call set up Livermore's Four-run fourth.

After Kevin Fitzpatrick had singled to open the auspicious inning, he stole second and was plated on Beckover's double down the left field line.

With two gone, Ebert was safe on an infield error, Beckover scoring. Gosney and Davis followed with run-scoring doubles, the latter knocking Costello out of the box.

In the seventh, Ebert scored the final tally on Pleasanton's fifth error.

Tragic 11th race— chaos and anguish

PLEASANTON - I had a hunch on Saratoga Lane in the 11th Saturday.

My hunch turned out to be tragically valid — for all the wrong reasons.

Saratoga Lane was the riderless bay gelding who crushed the life from jockey Juan Gonzalez, following a freak mishap shortly after the start of the featured Sam Whiting Memorial Handicap.

It was sunny and warm that day at the track, and I had collected on a $6 combination in the 10th.

There is an electric thrill that runs through a track crowd at the start of each race, and it was no different for the tragic 11th.

Suddenly, however, it happened. A jockey was down — and then, a second and a third. Slowly at first and then more quickly, the crowd rose.

I craned to see over the people in front of me and watched in horror as my hunch horse tumbled over that small figure on the track.

The other horses cleared Gonzalez and the race continued, but I couldn't take my eyes from him. He was so still.

Within seconds, he was surrounded by trackmen, and in minutes an ambulance was on the track. I could no longer see him.

The track announcer warned the riders on the back stretch of the accident — and again, as they rounded the last curve. I wondered why they didn't stop the race. How could they continue it? How could it happen, I asked a friend. There was babbling and confusion in the stands and scattered boos.

Then it was over. The last horses crossed the finish line and the ambulance moved off — red light silently revolving but no siren.

Tempers were hot, both in the stands and on the track. Two jockeys fought wildly in front of the grandstand before they were pulled apart.

The Board of Stewards posted an inquiry, then declared the results of the 11th official amid angry booing from the crowd.

It all happened so quickly.

Still bewildered, I wondered how the jockeys were. Where did they take them? Why didn't the announcer tell us they were all right?

He looked so still out there on the track before he was surrounded, and they lifted him onto the stretcher so gently.

I didn't stay for the 12th race. I didn't stay at the fair. It didn't seem right somehow.

It was not until later I learned Gonzalez, who had begun his racing career at the Pleasanton track, a track he knew like the back of his hand, would never race again anywhere.

I don't know if I'll ever bet a hunch again.

— Pat Widder

Gonzalez mourned in track ceremony

A moment of silence between the sixth and seventh races and a lowering of the flag to half mast were stark reminders to Alameda County Fairgrounds racing patrons yesterday of the passing of Juan Gonzalez.

Gonzalez, many times Northern California's leading jockey, was killed Saturday a disastrous accident which occured during the running of the featured Sam Whiting Handicap. Gonzalez, 26, was thrown from his mount, Bold Clarion, and was crushed under the weight of another fallen horse.

A rosary was said last night in San Mateo with funeral services set for today at 10 a m., followed by a mass at St. Timothy Church in San Mateo.

A Juan Gonzalez Family fund has been established by the Northern California Track Writers Association to take care of the educational and medical needs of the late rider's two young daughters.

Veteran jockey Mel Lewis, Pleasanton racing secretary Charlie Dougherty, San Francisco Examiner handicapper Ed Romero, Bob Gunderson and William Kunz were selected as trustees of the fund, based at Bay Meadows Race Track in San Mateo.

Gonzalez, who spent much of his youth and began his racing career in Pleasanton, became the second of Northern California's leading jockeys to die in a racing mishap this year. Earlier, Alvaro Pineda was killed in a starting gate mishap at Santa Anita.

Despite the lasting mark Gonzalez made on West Coast racing, no mention of his death was made during CBS' television's hour-long racing special Sunday, though network commentators expressed deep regret at the imminent loss of Ruffian, a horse.

NOTES: Meanwhile, the fair may realize a million dollar-a-day average pari-mutuel handle this season. The first six days have produced a nine per cent increase.

Brown blanks Buckley

Karen Brown, pitcher for NBI's, shut out Rich Buckley on three base hits last week in a 4-0 Livermore Women's Softball contest.

Brown yielded a first-inning double to Theresa Kusske, and a triple to Lori Miller in the second inning. After Diane Parkinson's single in the third, Buckley was blanked the rest of the way.

Brown retired the final 14 batters in succession.

NBI's scored the winning run in the first inning on Paula Forsberg's triple and Jo Shatto's fly ball.

Three more runs scored in the third inning, the key blows, a double by Forsberg and singles by Judy Lee and Carole Compton.

In other action, Mutual Service crushed Oak's Club, 15-3. Winning pitcher Linda Richards stopped the Oak's, on nine hits. Kathy Lopez and Sherri Garrison collected three hits each for the winners. Debbie Miller, Mavis Backes and Joann Noon each had two.

Tri-Valley throttled the Center Folds, 15-5, behind the hitting of Margie Arroyo, Peggy Dix and Cathy Dilger They combined for 13 base hits.

Winning pitcher Beth Folman hurled a 10-hitter.

Cubs dump MSJ to take Big League

The Dublin Cubs thumped second place Mission San Jose, 8-1 Saturday to wrap up the District 57 Big League baseball title, then defeated Pleasanton twice on Sunday, 2-1 and 11-4.

With one game to play, the Cubs boast a 15-2 record. MSJ had four losses and three games remaining on its schedule.

Dublin's Bob Chapman and John Prieto shut down MSJ on Saturday, allowing six base hits. Chapman was the winning pitcher.

Prieto drove in two runs for the Cubs with a single in three trips to the plate, but the big hitter was Jim McCuaig. He belted a two-run homer.

Curt Rohren, who played a key role Sunday, went 2-for-4 against Mission San Jose.

With the championship already cinched, Jerry Puertas went out Sunday and edged Pleasanton, 2-1, on two hits. Puertas struck out 12.

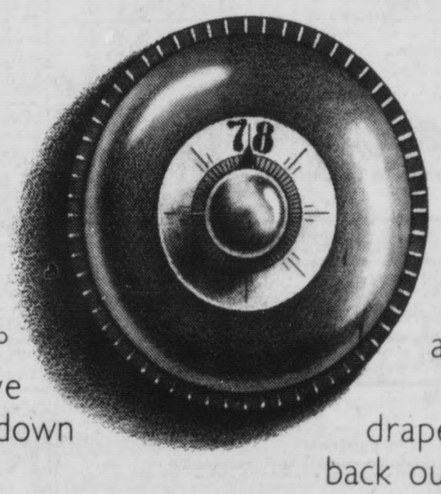
Dublin scored all of its runs in one inning when Puertas reached base on an error and scored on Prieto's double. Dave Anderson, who had two hits in the Saturday game, singled Prieto home with the winning score.

In the second contest Alan Schout and Steve Edwards combined for the 11-4 pitching decision.

Pleasanton jumped away to four runs in the first inning on a walk, a single and four consecutive bases-on-balls.

Dublin rebounded behind Rohren, who had a double and three RBI's for the game.

MAKE THIS THE SUMMER OF 78.



Keep the strain off your air conditioning—and off your budget—by setting your air conditioner thermostat at 78° this summer. You'll save energy, and help hold down your utility bill, too.

It only takes an inside temperature of 78° to feel pleasantly cool and comfortable. Driving the temperature down to 75° or lower increases energy cost by at least 10%.

A practical way to keep cool inside is by keeping heat outside. Check your attic to be sure your insulation is adequate ("R-19" standard) to keep summer heat out of your living space. And be sure you have good cross-ventilation, or an attic exhaust ventilator which can reduce attic temperatures up to 50° and greatly reduce the load on your air conditioner.

Hang your light-colored drapes to reflect sunshine back outside. Outside awnings, sunshades, or leafy plantings on the hot side of your house are even better at producing natural coolness in and around your home.

So set your central air conditioning at 78° (or use the "warmer" setting on room air conditioners) and mark the proper setting with pencil or crayon.

Plan now to make this The Summer of 78. You'll keep your cool and save money, too.

SAVE ENERGY • YOU'LL SAVE MONEY, TOO.

Stanley Blvd. mayhem leads to arrest of Oakland youth

LIVERMORE - A 24-year-old Oakland youth was arrested early Saturday morning after allegedly knocking out two stop signs, an electric warning signal and two trees on Stanley Boulevard just east of Wall Street.

Police responded to the scene at 1:30 a.m., Friday, and found Lupe Martinez' 1972 Chevrolet straddling the center median with a large dent in the front of the car, tree bark in a dent on the passenger's door, a 25-mph sign knocked over with paint transfers similar to Martinez' car, two trees uprooted and transplants in the bed of his car.

Martinez admitted to being the driver, according to patrolmanJim Balbach, and without noticing it, dropped several papers from his wallet when looking for his driver's license

"No," he reportedly told Balbach, he had not been drinking.

He was taken to Valley Memorial Hospital for a blood test, however, when he allegedly failed the field sobriety test.

His passenger, John A. Scott, 39, 1348 S. Livermore St., told police Martinez was going about 65-mph when he hit the curb, bounced into "something" and then "hit the big sign."

Scott said he and Martinez had been drinking in Pleasanton and that Martinez told him to say they'd been forced off the road by another car, but that Scott wouldn't lie for him.

Martinez later told Balbach a red or orange Dodge Charger swirved in front of the car while they were traveling at about 55-mph in the 25-mph zone.

Martinez was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol.

Unwelcome guests roughed him up then took his stereo and television

LIVERMORE - A Lawrence Livermore Laboaratory employe was beaten and robbed at gunpoint early Saturday morning when four men he befriended turned on him in the midst of a casual party.

Emmett Johnson, a professor at the lab, told police he met the four at a local market while shopping Friday. One of his assailants showed interest in Johnson's car and he invited them to his 975 Murrieta Blvd. apartment for some beers.

The five sat around talking and listening to the stereo when one got up under the guise of using the bathroom. When he got behind Johnson, however, he slugged him in the back of the head with what Johnson believes was a gun and yelled "Eat the ground!"

One of the men protested the treatment, but the assailant, kicking Johnson in the side,responded that he'd "blow his brains out!"

They quickly threw a coat over his head and one held the gun to his neck, kicking him when moved and lashing out with the pistol twice, once cutting him on the cheek.

The assailants took his wallet, watch and wedding ring along with the television and stereo system and several records.

Johnson's wedding ring was found later on the apartment rug.

A witness told police she heard some commotion at 4 a.m and looked out to see three men loading a light green two-door sedan with a turntable and records.

Johnson says he was on the rug for nearly 45 minutes and stayed there another three minutes after his assailants left.

When he got up he noted the phone cord ripped from the receiver, and not knowing what to do, went to sleep until the morning when he called police from a neighbor's apartment.

He described his chief assailant as 25- to 27-years old, six-foot-two-inches, 170-pounds with shoulder length brown hair and a mustache and named Bill.

The others are listed as Sonny, 35- to 40-years-old, five-foot-three-inches, 135-pounds with black hair and a mustache; another "Bill" about 30-years-old, five-foot-ten-inches, 180-pounds with bright red hair and a mustache; and an unnamed suspect about 40-to 50-years-old, six-foot-two-inches, 160-pounds with brown, medium length hair.

Johnson was watching the apartment for a friend who was vacationing in Hawaii.

Dublin man held in Livermorean's death

LAKE SHASTA - A former Dublin man is being held by Shasta County Sheriff's Department deputies on charges of murder following the Friday night slaying of a vacationing Livermore youth.

Frank A. Crossman, 25, who recently moved to Shasta County, will be arraigned in court this morning for the murder of Kelly W. O'Grady, 26, of 578 North N St.

A fight between the two allegedly culminated when Crossman pulled a .32 caliber automatic pistol and shot O'Grady through the chest, according to sheriff's deputies.

The incident followed a long feud between the two Valley men, deputies said.

Crossman had recently moved to the area and it was apparently coincidental that O'Grady and two of his brothers were vacationing in the vicinity.

Deputies said Crossman heard O'Grady was at the Lakeshore East Campground and went to the area. An argument ensued and in the struggle Crossman allegedly pulled the gun and shot O'Grady.

O'Grady's is one of three killings last weekend at the normally placid Northern California vacation resort. There have been four since the first of July.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m., Wednesday, in St. Michael's Church, Livermore.

Mori bill becomes law

SACRAMENTO - Assemblyman Floyd Mori has announced that his first bill to gain passage through the State Legislature has been signed by Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr.

AB 1398 is the first part of a small package carried by Mori for the Alameda County Board of Supervisors designed to eliminate some of the needless paper work performed by local government.

The legislation is permissive and is not a state-mandated program.

The bill allows the county board of supervisors to pass an ordinance permitting certain county officials or their designated deputies to cancel debts of $1 or less due the county.

Present law requires preparation of a list, adoption of a resolution and many other costly and time-consuming details dealing with collection of those small debts.

AB 1398 received no opposition in the State Legislature.

Public hearing Wednesday

Valley water quality is the topic

A special Zone 7 meeting and public hearing on the proposed Army Corps of Engineers' study of upper Alameda Creek will be held Wednesday night at 7:30 at Rincon School in Livermore.

Since Zone 7 of the Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District will be coordinating the Corps of Engineers' study, it was decided to hold the public hearing in conjunction with a Zone 7 meeting.

The representatives of the Corps will present a rough outline of what they propose to study Wednesday night but will consider the input from the public before making the final decision on exactly what to study.

The Corps was asked to do the study some years ago, but now many local agencies have spoken out strongly against yet another study of valley water and sewage difficulties. "Citizen involvement is essential to this study" said Colonel H. A. Flertzheim, a San Francisco District Agency. "We need citizen input to identify and define local problems and to set community, goals, values and guidelines."

The Alameda Creek Urban Study is one of three dozen urban studies currently being conducted by the Corps of Engineers throughout the United States.

Urban study planning ranges 50 years into the future. Alternatives developed will meet area needs assuming conditions ranging from no growth to a 100 per cent increase in population by the year 2000.
